

Hi folks,

I'm back on Lismore now until July and working on my new show Living Stone – Dave Gray has been sending me extraordinary tracks that he's produced from improvisations and songs that we recorded.

The paintings are up on the wall, fiddle's in its cradle, a candle's burning and prayer is on my tongue and in my heart: "Oh Holy Stone how you shimmer and shine. May thy will be done on our earthly shrine."

An update on how the tour went plus some fiddle retreat dates below.

Sending love and light.

Auld Lang Syne January tour

Syne. I've been North and South, pleasing audiences with the nuances of the song. The feedback has been mighty!

"Absolutely LOVED your performance. Beautiful, funny, poignant, honest...thank you."

"Auld Lang syne was utterly beautiful. So glad I accepted my friends' invitation - I'd heard of you before but the performance blew me over. Deagh Dhurachd, Tia"

"Can't believe I've waited so long to see this show - worth the wait!"

Sadly we never got to Tullynessle due to heavy snow. And a speeding fine in London for going at 26mph in a 20mph zone was annoying but apart from that the tour went without a hitch.

An aside: at the end of the last show (officially the last one) in the Scottish Storytelling Centre, when I left the stage the stone DROPPED to the floor! The piano string that had been holding it up these past two years decided the time had come.

Auld Lang Syne was co-devised and directed by Kath Burlinson of the Authentic Artist Collective.

Join us on retreat

What's coming up? Well, there are still places left on my fiddle camps. So if you'd like to focus on fiddle for five days with wonderful home cooked food, great teaching and on a beautiful island on the West coast of Scotland, check this out!

Dates are:

April 1-5 and

May 13-17.
