

Hi folks, hope you're doing well and enjoying the summer months.

Now that I'm back in Edinburgh from Lismore, life is hotting up (and it's not just the weather!). I'm playing five live solo concerts as part of the Fringe. I'm also featuring in an exciting new production, She/Her, alongside my daughter Ada and supported backstage by my daughter Ellen.

All Fringe tickets are on sale now.

I'll be playing five solo concerts the Acoustic Music Centre on 9, 10, 21, 23 and 25 August 2022.

The material will be a blend of new and old, grounded in the wilds of the West and life in the East. There is new material inspired by my relocation in January to the beautiful isle of Lismore and some classic songs from the past that hubby Dave Francis and I have written together, plus some traditional Scottish songs... oh, and yes, come and meet the stone! Love to see you.

Also as part of the Fringe, I'm featuring in She/Her, the multimedia performance presented by 'Brian Cox (of Logan in the series Succession fame) and Actors Rising Productions' and directed by Brian's wife Nicole Ansari-Cox.

The show, which runs at the Assembly George Square Studios throughout August, is about eight women stepping into the light and sharing our stories of hope, fear, loss, trauma, passion, ancestry, birth, motherhood and romance with wit, humour, movement and music.

I'll be joined on stage by my daughter, the musician Ada Francis – and the interactions between mum and daughter won't always be comfortable! My other girl Ellen Norna Francis, an independent filmmaker, will be assisting the

I'm proud to be presenting with this amazing cast, and to have my two girls involved is a bit of a dream.

New dance sets to practice

Our new Lismore dance band

The Lismore band had our inaugural dance in the Lismore Hall on the 11th June. It was amazing! We were eleven on stage (although there's only nine of us in this pic): five fiddles, one accordion, whistle, bass, drums, guitar and piano. All the dances felt just great – really swingy, not too fast and clean endings and beginnings. Folk came out in droves and experienced a stage filled with local musicians, all from this small community of just 160. Our aim is to revive Scottish dancing on the island and keep this form of community activity well and truly alive!

We're planning ahead and have a series of five dances that'll run from October through to May 2023.

All our sets are also up on my website and you, my dear subscribers, have access to. There's a built in slow-downer and looper to make learning
