

Hi everyone,

I hope this finds you well, staying above water and going with the flow. I sort of am, when I remember...

I'm delighted to be playing tonight at the CCA in Glasgow and to be sharing a stage with some wonderful friends and artists from the Authentic Artist Collective for Extinction Rebellion.

All the performers, though offering many different hues of expression, all met through the work of Kath Burlinson who founded the Authentic Artist Collective. Kath has directed my two solo shows and is a wonder. It's a great community. I love it and I hope you will too. Come along if you can...

There's more information below about the gig, a new double CD by the Lismore community, the new Storm project by Vision Mechanics, and more.

Wednesday 4 December, CCA Glasgow, 7pm

Massive Outpouring of Love is an Authentic Artist Collective variety show fundraiser for Extinction Rebellion, in association with refugee charity, MOOL Dumfries & Galloway.

I'll be playing alongside Christine Sparks, Harley Loudon, Kate Young – as well as storyteller, Alice Fernbank, and poet-performers Rachel Amey and Beth Godfrey.

It will be a unique, one-night-only smorgasbord of love in support of XR's climate change rebellion.

A giant event

The giant's out of the bag.

I'm thrilled to be a part of this amazing project, creating the music with David Harper Gray, for Storm. Created by Vision Mechanics, Storm is a sea goddess twice the height of a double decker bus! Her inaugural walk will bring her out of the Clyde and up to the Concert Hall in Glasgow on Saturday 18 January.

Next year is the 'Year of coast lines' so Storm is being created to bring attention to our relationship to the sea. She will be walked along coast lines in Scotland, calling, singing, sounding and connecting with the people who live there and beyond.

Dave and I will be creating her voice... what an opportunity. The music has taken shape and the score is EPIC. I am super excited to see this giant goddess take her first walk.

Auld Lang Syne

I fell upon a few tracks from the Auld Lang Syne album a few nights ago on my computer. For the first track on the 2018 album, Dave Francis and I re-recorded the single Auld Lang Syne the way we did it in 1993 - it's cool to hear the difference in 25 years.

Then off we go... into these textured, wild, open spaces of sound, word and songs that accompany the show Auld Lang Syne. Maybe it's a bit ahead of its time, but not that much... a time and space piece. Please feel free to email me any noticings from the listening journey at mairi@mairicampbell.scot.
