

Hello friends,

I like to think we're in the back of the Winter (as Karine Polwart puts it in her gorgeous song 'Follow the Heron').

Life is pretty good. Lockdown on Lismore with its palette of online musical activity and being outdoors is working a treat.

Coming up over the next few weeks, there are classes and albums on their way, a new series of Voice and InterPlay classes, slow sessions, fiddle classes and of course our beloved Campbell's Ceilidh. More info below...

session Spring course

New course for Spring!

Helen and I are loving Winter series which takes place on Wednesday mornings. Places filled up quickly though, so book for Spring now if you want a spot.

Together we'll explore the possibilities and transform our screens into stages and platforms for joyful solo and ensemble play.

Starts 3 March at 11am (UK time).

Proud auntie!

My nephew Tom Campbell-Paine is making gorgeous music.

Here's a tune '5 minutes at a time' written by him that he's playing with his pal since school days, Cameron Grant.

Again, thank you for your support.
